

Inuit Dwellings: Past and Present

May 28 – September 30, 2010

The Inuit Dwellings exhibition was curated especially for 2010 Doors Open Toronto (May 29 & 30) and the theme: architecture. The show features historic photos of dwellings of the past—igloos and their construction and a tupiq (summer hide tent)—as well as photos of modern day buildings in the Arctic. The art, both sculptures and prints, depict the traditional igloo and tupiq as well as the qarmaq, a more permanent house with stone or sod walls and a hide roof. In stark contrast is Annie Pootoogook's print Interior/Exterior illustrating a typical modern day house and Kananginak Pootoogook's Untitled (Houses in Cape Dorset), the current view of the landscape.

Museum of Inuit Art
207 Queen's Quay West
Box 32, Toronto, Ontario
Canada M5J 1A7

t 416.640.1571

info@miamuseum.ca
www.miamuseum.ca

Daniel Weetaluktuk Museum

Inukjuak (Port Harrison) 2008

Photo: Ingo Hessel

Summer tents, Copper Eskimos 1913 Kogluktuasluk (Ekayuak), Northwest Territories.

Photo: J.R. Cox, Geographer, Canadian Arctic Expedition (1913-1916)

#39653 Reproduced with the permission of Natural Resources Canada 2010, courtesy of the Geological Survey of Canada

M
I
A

Museum of Inuit Art
207 Queen's Quay West
Box 32, Toronto, Ontario
Canada M5J 1A7

t 416.640.1571

info@miamuseum.ca
www.miamuseum.ca